Lord Clarendon's Speech in the House of Lords on the Alabama Convention —Comments of English Press Thereon—Royal Yacht Club Race—Probable Rejection of the Irish Church Bill in the House of Lords.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, June 5.—The Daily Telegraph regards the speech of Lord Clarendon as neither defiant nor subservient, but as dignified by a firmness which expresses the national determination. It shows what may be solicited with success is contained in the articles of the rejected treaty, and that what it is hopeless to suggest is contained in Mr. Sumner's speech. England will never put a troublesome pressure on Mr. Motley to hasten the completion of his task, but will be always ready to cancel every trace of angry feeling likely to disturb the relations of kindred nations.

LONDON, June 5.—The Royal Thames Yacht Club race resulted in the Egeria winning the first prize in six hours, twenty minutes, forty seconds, beating the Cimbria. The course was from Graves End to Mouse Light and back. The Prince of Wales accompanied the yachts in the yacht Princess.

LONDON, June 5.—The papers this morning unite in interpreting Lord Clarendon's brief review of the Alabama correspondence in the House of Lords last evening. It was designed to indicate to Mr. Motley, previous to an official interview, the sentiments of the present Ministry.

The London Standard, Tory organ, after abusing America for shiftiness, arrogance and greed, says that no English Minister ever had to make any explanations so humiliating as Lord Clarendon uttered last night before the House of Lords. However conscious of sincerity of motive and rectitude of conduct, it was no less humiliating to be obliged to treat unconventional phrases of diplomacy with a country that has acted as the United States has done in the Alabama case. He admits, however, that it is still his duty, notwithstanding the past, to renew his efforts, even without any hope of an honest desire for concord being rightly interpreted by any but a small section of the American people. Lord Clarendon then announced that his Government would not refuse to reopen negotiations, provided they were not approached in a spirit similar to that which animated Senator Sumner's speech, which was so applauded by the American Senate, but for the moment he was unable to communicate to the House the tenor of Mr. Motley's instructions, or even whether that gentleman had any instructions, which he could at present make known. In the meantime, until Mr. Motley should please to open business on the subject, and tell us, if he can, not only what demand he has to make, but also what he may have by way of supplementary instructions as well, we hold in our hands a limit of compliments toward him as author of certain lively histories of low countries.

The London Telegraph, a ministerial organ, says the speech of the foreign Secretary looks like an unmistakable expression of English opinion, made with dignified firmness and an indication of national resolve. From what transpired in the House of Lords last night, Mr. Motley can ascertain what hopes there are to reopen negotiations, and he will see that in the opinion of Englishmen that country has gone far enough. What he may solicit he can find in the articles of renewed convention, and what is hopeless even to suggest he can discover in Senator Sumner's speech. He will learn from the earnest language and manly bearing of Lord Clarendon that the foreign office never will put a troublesome pressure upon the new American Minister to hasten the completion of his difficult task. And moreover, England is always ready to cancel every trace of angry feeling that may for a time have disturbed the affectionate relations of a kindred people.

The London Star, John Bright's organ, says "we can now advance steadily into the future. There are two things clear, and it is satisfactory to find them recognized. Lord Clarendon stated last night, in the House of Lords, with the utmost point and energy, that the Americans cannot now doubt the willingness of the British Government to get them right, or its determination to protect its own character and credit. The negotiations speak for themselves. On one point Lord Clarendon speaks for the nation, on the other Mr. Motley and Mr. Fish and President Grant fully understand and appreciate the facts according to their merits."

The London Times says that Lord Clarendon told the House of the two conventions and their rejection, the first after having been formally signed by the American envoy, and observed, truly enough, that no impartial person could deny that everything had been done to meet the wishes and adopt the proposals made by the American Government.

The Times says, with curious criticism on its own work, that it made no great expression of satisfaction when the negotiation fell through, and for its own part, considering how much the Americans wanted and how much the British Secretarys were ready to give, it was a wonder that England got off so well.

LONDON, June 6.—A meeting of the Conservative Peers was held yesterday to determine what course should be pursued in regard to the bill for the disestablishment of the Irish Church.

Lord Cairns urged that opposition be made to the bill on second reading, and that it be finally rejected. He said the leaders of the party did not wish to dictate and were anxious that the judgment of each Peer should remain unfettered. He felt that as the country had never pronounced on the present bill, and as the feeling of the House of Lords was so opposed to it, the most consistent and best course to pursue under the circumstances would be to repudiate the measure.

Lord Salisbury deprecated the course recommended by Lord Cairns. The agitation which would follow the rejection of the bill would be most disastrous to the country and would do nothing to save the Irish Church. It would be better to accept the bill and modify it in Commons, than to renew ill feeling and excitement.

Lord Carnoven opposed the recomdation of Lord Salisbury. He urged the Chamber of Peers that now it was able to make terms for the Irish Church; they might not have an opportunity hereafter.

Lord Derby was in favor of the rejection of the bill, contending that personal fears should deter no one from doing right.

The majority of the Lords present approved of the views of Lord Derby, and it was agreed the second reading of the bill should be opposed. It is estimated there will be a majority of eighty against the Irish Church bill on its second reading in the House of Lords.

DUBLIN, June 6.—An immense public meeting of persons opposed to the Irish Church bill has been held in Londonderry. Nearly twelve thousand were present. A protest against the bill was adopted, and will be sent to the House of Lords.

GERMANY.

BERLIN, June 5.—The Parliament of Zolvere'n has elected Herr Simpson President and Prince Hohenlohe, of Miest, Vice President. Prince Hohenlohe thanked the Chamber for his reelection and he said this vote, in his eyes, had great political importance. The confidence shown in him would encourage him to proceed and persevere in the course he considered right, and bring about good understanding, reconciliation and union among the German people.

BERLIN, June 6.—The North German Parliament have adopted the Federal budget. The annual revenue and expenditure of the Confederation are about equal, being estimated in the budget at 77,000,000 thalers each.

PARIS, June 5.—Mr. Washburne, American Minister, is indisposed, and will go to Hamburg. He leaves Mr. Hoffman, first Secretary, in charge of the legation.

Some arrests have been made in Paris within the last two days, in consequence of, it is reported, a discovery by the police of a new political conspiracy. The details of the affair are as yet unknown.

Synod of the General Reformed Church.

Appointments by the President—News from Cuba—Military Commissions in Unreconstructed States — Currency Statement.

WASHINGTON, June 5, 1869.

APPOINTMENTS.

The President has made the following appointments: C. C. Andrew, of Minn., Minister Resident to Stockholm; Jas. L. Graham, Jr., United States Consul at Florence; C. R. Mobley, United States Attorney for the Southern District of Florida; John Lynch, of Louisiana, Surveyor General of Louisiana. Jno. P. Biglow has been appointed Chief of the Loan Branch Treasury Department, vice W. H Andrews, resigned. Oscar D. Madge appointed Chief of Special Agency Division of the Treasury, vice Col. Guthrie, resigned.

ADVICES FROM CUBA.

Admiral Hoff advises the Navy Department, from Matanzas, 27th, he is surprised to find that the feeling of animosity between the volunteer and Cuban elements was much less bitter than he had been led to expect in Havana. In fact, from appearances a stranger in Matanzas would never suspect a revolution was raging in the Island. All American citizens desirous of going to the United States have left that vicinity.

Lt. Commander Eastman reports that about the 9th or 10th of May some bands of insurgents attacked a convoy of a train, defeated them and captured forty-three officers and men, including a colonel. There are rumors that Trinidad is environed by a large force of insurgents, and also a report that that place is in their possession. At Guatememas, on the south side, near the eastern end of the Island, the insurrectionists are said to be exceedingly strong, in consequence of the successful landing of an expedition in that district, and in a recent engagement with the Spaniards the latter were defeated. One thing is positive, however, that is the actual or supposed successful landing of these expeditions has infused new life into the insurrection that to all appearances was dying out two weeks ago.

OPINION BY THE ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Attorney General Hoar has submitted a lengthy opinion to the Secretary of War, in which he says he finds no reason in the laws for the President's withholding his approval from the finding of the Military Commission in the case of Jas. Weaver, a citizen of Texas, convicted of murder and sentenced to be hung. The question involved was whether a Military Commission in Texas, in September, 1868, had jurisdiction over a citizen not in the naval or military service. Authority therefor is found by the Attorney General in the statute of March 2d, 1867, placing certain rebel States, including Texas, under military control, which act was operative in Texas, because she had not adopted a Constitution in conformity with the other provisions of the act, and all acts of Congress are to be presumed to be constitutional unless the contrary plainly appears.

REVENUE DECISION.

No special tax will be required of any person, firm, or company, corporation or association, either as a manufacturer or dealer, for manufactures of butter and cheese, or for the first sale of butter or cheese of their own manufacture, or which they are engaged in manufacturing either directly or indirectly.

COLORED MEN IN THE NAVY YARD.

Yesterday, for the first time in the history of the Washington Navy Yard, two colored men commenced work as joiners upon equal footing with the whites. They were formerly slaves and were employed in the Union service during the war.

The Gubernatorial Canvass—The Opposing Candidates Define Their Positions.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NASHVILLE, June 5.—Col. W. B. Stokes opened the canvass for Governor at the capitol to-day, in a speech of three hours' length to a large audience. He discussed a number of questions of local interest, reserving therefrom the enfranchisement question for the close. This, he said, was the all absorbing topic, and as he was seeking an office the people had a right to demand an avowal of his opinions relative to it. He said he stood by his record, and read a letter upon the subject, written by him to Col. Thornbury and others in January last. In that letter he stated that he was not in favor of universal suffrage, never had been, and did not know that he ever would be, and declared that he was in favor of opening the ballot box to rebels only when it could be safely done, and done then by a two-thirds majority of the Legislature. He also referred to his speech in this city on the 14th of April, in reply to Johnson, and reiterated the views therein expressed. In that speech he said the ballot box would be opened to the rebels when they cease to murder and assassinate, and showed by their good obedience that they could be trusted with the ballot. He claimed that his policy was in accordance with that of the party, as shown in the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution, which authorized Congress, by a vote of two-thirds, to remove political disabilities.

Col. Stokes was frequently cheered and when he closed a part of the colored portion of the auditors left the hall shouting.

After the noise and confusion subsided Gov. Sentor gave his views on the question of enfranchisement of the late rebels. The policy was not sustained by the Chicago platform. If elected, as he felt sure he would be, he would recommend the Legislature to take steps to remove the political disabilities of every tax-paying citizen of Tennessee. Gov. Sentor's speech was well received and gave satisfaction to his supporters. Both gentlemen seemed confident of success.

Heavy Suit Decided—Large Seizure of Sugar—Military Intelligence—Nellie Dorset, the Would-be Suicide—The McConnell Murder Trial — Select Party for the Far West.

CHICAGO, June 6.—The famous Uhlich vs. Muhlke case, involving the question of the ownership of property valued at $1,600,000, reached a decision in the Superior Court yesterday. The decision is to the effect that Muhlke, the defendant, shall receive $120,000, and the two sons of the deceased the balance. Muhlke, it will be remembered, was the confidential agent of old man Uhlich at the time of his death, and after the occurrence of that event was found to be possessed of deeds which conveyed to him nearly his entire property, leaving the sons little or nothing. They sued and recovered all but the sum named above, which was the first deed obtained by Muhlke and held to be valid.

Two hundred boxes and barrels of sugar were seized in this city yesterday, by the Collector of the Port, for non-payment of duties. There will be other seizures made, as there is a large quantity in the market which never paid duty.

The following items have been received at General Sheridan's headquarters: Captain Samuel Ovenshine, of the Fifth Infantry, reports to the Adjutant General of the Department of Missouri, from Fort Hays, Kansas, that on the 28th of May, a party of from thirty to forty Indians crossed the railroad track at Fossil Creek, twenty-eight miles east of Fort Hays, attacked and wounded four men at that station, and killed two at the water tank. The Indians cut down the telegraph wire, cut it up into small pieces and filled the bodies of the dead men with them. They also arranged the switch so as to throw the cars off the track, causing much damage to the train. The detachment sent out by Gen. Custar will probably obtain more definite information than has yet been received.

By order of the War Department Brevet Colonel H. Clay Wood is relieved from duty as Adjutant General of the Department of the Lakes.

Nellie Dorset, who eloped from New York a few weeks since, and was supposed to have committed suicide about a week since by jumping into the Chicago river, has been found in a house of ill-fame in this city, of which she has been for some time an inmate. Leaving her cloak on the bank of the river with letters in the pocket, and throwing her hat on the dark deep water, was a ruse to mislead her friends as to her fate.

Joseph M. Drake, who died suddenly a few days since in this city, had his life insured for some $150,000. Among the Companies were the following: Charter Oak, $10,000: Equitable, $40,000; North Western, $20,000; Aetna, $10,000; Connecticut Mutual, $18,000.

The McConnell murder trial, so far as the evidence is concerned, was brought to a close yesterday morning. Mr. Atkins then proceeded in argument and was followed by Mr. Woodson on behalf of the prisoner, who finished his argument in the evening. At the conclusion of Judge Woodson's argument several bouquets were thrown at him by the ladies in the gallery.

Yesterday afternoon a select party left this city for the far west, by way of the Union Pacific Railroad. The company was composed of the following named ladies and gentlemen: Gov. Bross and wife, G. M. Pullman and wife, Miss Jennie Stuart, C. C. Waite, N. Y., Mr. Simonton, Associated Press, Mr. Fitch, San Francisco Bulletin, S. S. Elliott, Superintendent of the Oregon Central Railroad, and family.

LEAVENWORTH, Ks., June 5.—The Times and Conservative has a special from Ellsworth which says General Miles' couriers have arrived from the Saline. They report two additional bodies found, making thirteen killed. The Indians are devastating the settlements on the Solomon and Republican.

Adjutant General Moorhouse leaves tonight for the Republican with twenty-three scouts, recruited here. He received dispatches to day notifying him that Indians had been in the vicinity of White Rock and Lake Sibley all the week in large numbers, killing and destroying everything.

Maj. Cox, of the 10th Cavalry, has arrived from Camp Supply. He reports all the Arapahoes and four hundred Cheyennes at that post, hungry and out of ammunition, and Col. Nelson, Superintendent, is there with stock, provisions and goods for their benefit. Camp Supply will shortly be garrisoned by one company of the 10th Cavalry and five companies of infantry.

The same paper has news that the colonies in Mitchell county, in Northwestern Kansas, have been driven into Republic and Washington counties, and nearly twenty persons killed. Mr. Wentelpeck, an old citizen, was killed while crossing the Republican river. There is a panic among the settlers in that part of the State.

Advices from the neutral lands, Kansas, state that on the 3d, a party of three hundred leaguers appeared at a point ten miles south of Fort Scott, on the line of the railroad, drove away all the laborers and pulled up all the surveyors' stakes.

From the West Indies.

HAVANA, June 5.—The Peruvian monitors have arrived at Barbadoes. They made the voyage in four and a half days from St. Thomas.

Advices from St. Domingo are to the 27th ult. The Dominican Government had concluded a loan of £100,000 with Mr. Hartmond, of London. Bills to the amount of £40,000 had been drawn, but there were doubts of their acceptance and of the conclusion of the loan. The Republic was reported completely tranquil.

The custom house at Puerty Plata was recently destroyed by fire. There were evidences that ex-President Cabral was meeting with success in his revolutionary movements against Baez in the South.

Dates from Hayti are to the 26th ult. General Goget, the revolutionary leader, was looking for the arrival of the steamers Florida, Quaker City and America, which he expected to add to his navy, and with their assistance bring about the overthrow of President Salnave. General Luperon remained at St. Marks with the fleet.

Departure of the Ex-Captain General—Insurgents Surrendering.

HAVANA, June 5.—Ex-Capt. General Dulce sailed to-day for Spain. He was accompanied to the steamer by all the military officers of high rank now in Havana and by the Colonels of volunteer regiments.

The Havana journals publish reports which represent that thousands of insurgents are surrendering. It is asserted that among those who have given up their swords are Gen. Redo Cespedes and Francisco Farnari.

HAVANA, June 4, via KEY WEST, June 5.—The programme of the volunteers is to remain quiet until the arrival of Gen. Cabalero De Roda, allow him to assume command, and then await events. The Spanish Admiral strongly objected to the action of the volunteers in deposing Gen. Dulce, but as he finally acquiesced, it is believed he will remain a passive spectator of whatever they may do before the arrival of Gen. Roda.

The volunteers have removed the Governors of Cardenas and Colon and propose to establish a triumvirate, consisting of prominent Spaniards, to govern the Island till the home Government is settled. They will probably give Count Valmaseda command of the forces in the field. The Governor of Havana and the Chief Justice have resigned. Forty officials and the Bishop of Cuba accompany General Dulce to Spain. General Espinar is expected to resign soon.

Insurrectionary Plot in Georgia.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

AUGUSTA, Ga., June 5.—The Elberton Gazette states an insurrectionary plot has been discovered by a negro, having for its object the burning of the town of Lexington, the county seat of Oglethorpe county, and massacre of the inhabitants. The sheriff and posse while arresting negroes said to be implicated in the plot were resisted by one whom they shot and killed.

A Ridiculous Will by a Wealthy Man.

The Columbus (Ohio) Journal of Tuesday last says: Yesterday we heard of and read part of the most singular will on record. The maker of the will is represented to be a shrewd, successful business man, who has accumulated quite a large fortune. He exhibits no other sign of insanity than may be derived from the extreme eccentricity of his will, although it is probable the courts will, in due course, be called upon to determine the question whether the testator was of sound and disposing mind.

The will disinherits all the natural heirs of the maker of it, and devises the entire property in trust for the establishment of an Infirmary for Cats. A most elaborate architectural plan for the necessary buildings is attached to and made part of the will. It provides areas for that sweet amatory converse so dear to the feline heart, and rat-holes of the most ravishing nature, to be kept well stocked. The most ingenious contrivances are provided for the securing to the rat a chance to escape, so that the cats may not lose the pleasure of the chase by finding their prey come too easily. High walls are to be built, with gently sloping roofs, for the moonlight promenade and other nocturnal amusements of the cats. The trustees are directed to select the grounds for this novel infirmary in the most populous part of some American city, and the devisees are to be protected by a competent force of nurses from the ravages of men and dogs. No person of the male sex is ever to be admitted within the walls, and no female who has children or is under thirty years old. There are hundreds of minute directions which we have no time to note.

One would suppose that in the foregoing provisions the testator had exhausted all the eccentricities of one man, however unique his nature; but the last provision of the will seems more outrageously bizarree than any that go before. Says the devisor: "I have all my life been taught that everything in and about man was intended to be useful, and that it was man's duty, as lord of animals, to protect all the lesser species, even as God protects and watches over him. For these two combined reasons—first, that my body, even after death, may continue to be made useful; and secondly, that it may be made instrumental, as far as possible, in furnishing a substitute for the protestion of the bodies of my dear friends, the cats, I do hereby devise and bequeath the intestines of my body to be made up into fiddle-strings, the proceeds to be devoted to the purchase of an accordeon, which shall be played in the auditorium of the Cat Infirmary by one of the regular nurses, to be selected for that purpose exclusively—the playing to be kept up forever and ever, without cessation day or night, in order that the cats may have the privilege of enjoying that instrument which is the nearest approach to their natural voice."

—The Executive Committee of the Society of the Burnside Expedition and the Ninth Army Corps has designated the 17th of July as the time, and Rocky Point as the place, for holding the annual reunion.

The fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary.

—At Dutch Kills, Long Island, on Thursday, a dispute terminating in a fight occurred between two men named McNally and Kellahan, conductors on the Green Point Railroad, and a man named Marrow, and a companion, employes of the Astoria Railroad, regarding the merits of their respective lines. Having beaten Morrow in an inhuman manner, McNally and Kellahan, who were intoxicated, tore up the track for nearly a mile, and injured the bridge, causing a delay of twenty-four hours to the Flushing train. On their return to Green Point they were met by some friends of Morrow, who beat McNally in such a manner that recovery is doubtful. Kellahan ran away, and it is thought threw himself into the creek. He has not since been heard of.

DR. T. S. BELL, of Louisville, giving some reminiscences of the Breckinridge family of Kentucky, relates that, years ago, when the Rev. John Breckinridge was living in the North and had arranged for a controversy with the Rev. John Hughes, of the Catholic Church—then not as well known as afterward, but represented as of a rude, overbearing character—nearly all of the family were gathered around the home-hearth, when, after the assumed characteristics of the Rev. John Hughes had been fully discussed, the venerable mother opened her snuff-box, seized a large pinch of snuff between her thumb and finger, and, as she did so, remarked that "she wished it was——," naming one of her other sons, who was to meet him. The one referred to straightened himself up, his face beaming with proud, exultant triumph over the maternal selection, because to her judgment they all deferred. A long pause ensued; the pinch of snuff was still in abeyance, and the silence was at length broken by the inquiry, "Why, mother?" "Because," she replied, taking the snuff at the same moment, "John is too much of a gentleman for this controversy with John Hughes."

WE may look to the New Hampshire Legislature, which has just assembled, and gone at business in a business way, for a prompt ratification of the Fifteenth Amendment. There is no danger that the course of Rhode Island will be imitated either by the New Hampshire Legislature or the New Hampshire Senators.

"The arrow it sped to thy brown mate's breast;
Low in the broom is th mate to-day."

"Liest thou low love? low in the broom?
Feathers, and moss, and a wisp of hay,
Warm the white eggs till I learn his doom."
She beateth her wings, and away, away!

"Ah! my sweet singer, thy days are told,
Thine eyes are dim, and the eggs grew cold.
O mournful morrow! O dark to-day!"

The finch flew back to her cold, cold nest,
Feathers, and moss and a wisp of hay,
Mine is the trouble that rent her breast,
And home is silent, and love is clay.

Domestic Turkish Baths.

A neat little Turkish bath might be introduced into our homes to great advantage. R. N. writes to Human Nature how to make the domestic bath. He says: "In reference to the further adoption of the Turkish bath, analysis has satisfactorily proved that perspiration contains in itself the component parts of the excretions of both the kidneys and lungs. How great, then, must be the remedial power of the bath in derangements of these organs. Then, like all true remedies, it is good for the healthy as well as the sick—both preventive and remedial.

A small bath, good but not costly, may be fitted thus—a chamber six feet square, with a small brick furnace fixed from the outside, the fire-hole projecting into it, and if possible on a level with the floor, covered with cast iron plates one-half an inch thick, and over these one malleable iron plate, six feet eight inches by two feet one-fourth inch, which will not break like cast-iron with the heat, the malleable plates to be flanged down each side with angle iron, three inches deep, which will sink into the brick-work, while the ends will go four inches into the walls of the chamber. You will thus get a heating surface of six feet by two feet, which with no great expense of fuel will give you a heat of from 150 to 160 degrees. Ventilators and a good sized window are also wanted. There, at a low temperature, you can sit and read or write, with the advantage of the sunlight playing on your body, the beneficial effects of which have been acknowledged since the time that the Greeks planted their holy sun walks.

My own bath resembles the above in all respects, saving that it is twelve feet long, and is divided by a curtain hung midway; this both imparts an air of comfort to the place, and gives you advantage of different temperatures.—Herald of Health.

CLIPPINGS.

Mr. J. W. McFarland, of Hartford, Ohio, has two milch cows, which yielded the following handsome returns, From May 20th, 1868, to March 24th, 1869, from butter sold, $291. Besides this, a small family had an abundant supply of milk, butter and cream from these cows.

Senator Sprague, who has just returned from the South, estimates the next cotton crop at two million or two million and a quarter bales. Owing to the uncertainty of negro labor, it has become unprofitable to carry on large plantations, and most of the crop is now furnished by farms that yield from one to five and so on, up to fifty bales.

At the recent term of the Supreme Judicial Court of Rhode Island, there were no less than twenty-seven divorces from the bonds of matrimony granted, and four separations from bed and board. In the first mentioned class, which were for desertion and adultery, the females were the defendants in thirteen of the cases. This for a State of its size is a pretty good record.

In St. Mary's Parish, Louisiana, the dewberry crop has come and gone. The blackberries are ripe, but rather small, and not as plentiful as might be expected from the season. Plums are ripe but the crop is short. Figs are popping out in millions. They will be ripe in six or eight weeks. Strawberries are now in their prime, and those who have plenty of vines have plenty of ripe fruit.

A man named Farrell was shot in Henrysburg, Belmont county, Ohio, last Monday night. It appears that Farrell, while intoxicated, came into Yaus' saloon and demanded something to drink. His order was refused, an altercation ensued, which terminated in Yaus' shooting his customor. The ball entered the groin, inflicting serious injuries, but it is possible that the wounded man may recover. Yaus was taken to St. Clairsville. He gave bail in the sum of $5,000 for his appearance at Court.

The Ripley Bee says that a cow belonging to a Mr. Kendall, near Decatur, Brown county, recently gave birth to one hundred and six calves at one calving, and that another cow, belonging to Mr. Edward Francis, in the same vicinity, about the same time, brought forth sixty. In each instance there was one large developed calf, while the others were about the size of large Norway rats. The smaller ones were perfect miniature calves in every respect. Both of the cows died. The Bee says there is no doubt of the truth of this statement.

Aping the Ape.—It is stated of M. Mazurier, a French actor of the part of an ape, that he would not appear in his new character till his competency had passed the most rigid ordeal. According to this tradition he attired himself in his ape dress, and placed himself before the monkey cage in the Jardin des Plantes. For some time the monkeys treated him as a stranger; but at last a veteran ape snatched an apple from his hand with a look which regarded him as a brother. "Enfin je suis singe!" was the exclamation of the delighted artist, who, thus severely tested, now ventured to become an ape on the stage.

The Rev. Dr. Sunderland is held by the New York Commercial Advertiser to be a Beecherdox clergyman. It says that his religion is rifle-bored, and his precepts are bullets. As he contemplates his own figure of the Alabama as a "she wolf preying upon the white flocks of our commerce," an imaginary scabbard trembles upon his thigh, and an imaginary blade leaps therefrom to slay the beast and all those who encouraged its ferocity. He is the Presbyterian St. Peter, though no Master is at hand to stay his avenging arm, or to utter those words of a higher philosophy, "Put up again thy sword unto its place; for all they that take the sword shall perish with the sword."

Information from authentic sources shows that thirteen expeditions in all have left the United States for Cuba. Seven have gone from New York, three from Baltimore, and three from Florida. Three expeditions were on steamers, and the rest in schooner and brigs. The largest number of men carried was four hundred and fifty, and the smallest twenty-eight. There were five batteries of artillery, and arms for fourteen thousand men. An ex-Major of the United States army is about to leave with another expedition, but the point of departure is not yet fixed. Narly four million dollars have been expended here in the Cuban interest, though it is suspected that much of it has been appropriated by the parties handling it.

At Halifax, North Carolina, on the 28th of May, a strange scene occurred, involving a somewhat important question as to the legal force of a reprieve transmitted by telegraph. On that day, between the hours of twelve and one o'clock, Baker and James Thompson were to have been hanged for the murder of Wade Ditcher. Baker had desired to see a Catholic priest, and there being none in the place, one of his counsel telegraphed an earnest appeal to Governor Holden for a respite. At eleven o'clock a despatch arrived from the Governor's Secretary, the Governor himself being out of the State, directing that the prisoner should not be hung until Friday, the 4th of June, and stating that the respite would be forwarded by mail. The Sheriff refused to acknowledge this despatch as official. Shortly after twelve o'clock a second dispatch was received from Raleigh, requesting the Sheriff to stay the execution to the last moment, as Governor Holden, who was in Baltimore, had been telegraphed to. At half past twelve o'clock the Sheriff arrived at the jail grounds, and proceeded to arrange for the execution, declaring his intention to enforce the sentence within the specified hours. The prisoners were accordingly led to the scaffold, the ropes placed around their necks, and all made ready. Then the Sheriff consented to wait five minutes. At the expiration the prisoners' counsel claimed that the time fixed in the deathwarrant had expired, and asserted that the prisoners could not be hung after that time without a positive violation of the law, and that by so doing the Sheriff would lay himself liable. The Sheriff's own watch, however, showed that there were yet nine minutes before one o'clock, and he expressed a determination to hang the men according to his own chronometer. This created a great deal of excitement and discussion as to the legal value of telegrams in such cases, and the proper standard of time, in the midst of which, a despatch from Baltimore was received from Governor Holden himself, respiting the prisoners for a week The Sheriff concluded to recognize the authority of this dispatch, and the prisoners were accordingly returned to the jail.

CONTINUES TO TREAT ALL
private diseases. Syphilis in all its forms, all urinary diseases, and the effects of mercury are completely eradicated; Spermatorrhea or Seminal Weakness and Impotency, resulting from self-abuse or other causes, and which produces some of the following effects, as blotches, bodily weakness, indigestion, consumption, aversion to society, unmanliness, dread of future events, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions, and finally so prostrating the sexual system as to render marriage unsatisfactory, and therefore imprudent, are permanently cured. Persons afflicted with these or any other delicate, intricate or long standing constitutional complaint should give the Doctor a trial; he never fails.
A particular attention given to all Female complaints, Leucorrhea or Whites, Falling, Inflammation or Ulceration of the Womb, Ovaritis, pruritis, Amenorrhoea, Menorrhagia, Dysmenorrhoea, and Sterility or Barrenness, are treated with the greatest success.
It is self-evident that a physician who confines himself exclusively to the study of a certain class of diseases and treats thousands of cases every year must acquire greater skill in that specialty than one in general practice.
The Doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases, that can be had free at office or by mail for two stamps, in sealed envelopes. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the precise nature of their complaints.
The establishment, comprising ten ample rooms, is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the Doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be forwarded by mail or express. In some instances, however, a personal examination is absolutely necessary, while in others daily personal attention is required, and for the accommodation of such patients there are apartments connected with the office that are provided with every requisite that is calculated to promote recovery, including medicated Vapor baths. All prescriptions are prepared in the Doctor's own laboratory, under his personal supervision. Medical pamphlets at office free, or by mail for two stamps. No matter who have failed, read what he says. Hours 9 A.M. to 8 P.M. Sundays 12 M. to 2 P.M. Office, No. 9 WYLIE STREET, (near Court House,) Pittsburgh, Pa.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

REVIEW FOR THE WEEK.

The most important feature we have to note this week, is the remarkable and unexpected advance in prices. Crude has advanced fully two and a half cents since this day week, and Refined, for June delivery is three to three and a half cents higher; as already intimated, the advance was entirely unexpected, coming as it did right on the heels of a very sick market, and everybody expecting a still further decline, instead of an upward movement. This sudden reaction is attributed to the fact that there is a sharp demand for spot oil on the part of exporters; it is said that there are vessels at New York with an aggregate capacity of 120,000 bbls, at Philadelphia, 75,000 bbls, and that new charters to the extent of 70,000 bbls have been made at New York within the past few days.

The receipts of Crude and shipments of Refined have again been liberal during the week, and at no time this year has the oil business presented so satisfactory an appearance as at present. Additional refineries have been started up, and what is better still, there is a better margin for the refiner now than a week ago, and it is to be hoped that this will continue throughout the entire season.

Receipts Crude this week, 18,124 bbls; last week, 7,232; from January 1st to date, 277,150; same time last year, 536,926; Exports Refined this week, 10,449 bbls; last week, 12,589; from January to date, 163,958; same time last year, 205,566. Sales this week, 119,000 bbls; last week, 95,700. As will be seen by the above, our receipts of crude and shipments of refined, this year, fall largely behind those of the same time last year.

CRUDE.

Continues strong and considerably excited and, compared with yesterday, prices have still further advanced. Sales 1,000 each July to December at 15½; 2,000 July at 14½; 2,000 August at 14¾; 1,000 June, seller, at 14½; 1,000 July at 14½; and 1,000 each June to September at 15. Compared with this day week, spot oil is fully 2 cts higher here and 75 cents per bbl higher at Oil City.

REFINED

Also is stronger and higher under the influence of a sharp export demand, and prices have still further advanced. Sales in lots of 5,500 bbls for June at 32½; and 500 each June to September at 32½. This day week, June oil sold down to 29@29¼, showing an advance of three and a half cents. Offers to buy August to September at 33; and July to December at same figure.

THE Republican nominations meet with the cordial and hearty endorsement of all good citizens, and our customary majority of ten thousand may be anticipated if the right men are placed at the head of the State ticket.

THE City Council of Cincinnati have unanimously adopted a resolution ordering an election, to be held the 26th inst., upon the question of expending $10,000,000 in the construction of a railway connection with Chattanooga. Citizens who pay no taxes are not expected to stay away from the polls.

THE shortest way to abolish the "State Corruption Fund" would be to give some of our old Greensburg pilgrims a chance at it. Their unrivaled talents for absorbtion of the spoils would not be embarrassed, the way things now are, by any private arrangements for their division with outsiders.

THE Swedish and Belgian Missions are at last filled, by the appointment, to the first, of a gentleman from Minnesota, and of Mr. J. R. JONES to the second. Evidently, the Administration heeds our suggestion, and holds Mr. J. S. CARLISLE in reserve, for the elucidation, at the proper moment, of the mysterious situation in Paraguay.

ON SATURDAY night, June 4th, 1859, a killing frost destroyed growing crops to the value of many millions of dollars throughout all the region north of the 38th parallel of latitude. The rapidly declining temperature on Saturday last inspired a general apprehension of a similar visitation now. But these fears have not been realized to any noticeable extent. A light frost may have visited the higher lands remote from the water-courses, but not, we trust, such as to inflict any considerable injury.

"IN THE Legislative Convention the gentlemen of the Committee conferred together and were unanimous against the introduction of the twelfth resolution. It was not 'suppressed,' as has been alleged."—Commercial.

Could the audacity of falsehood go farther than in the above? Our columns are open to the members of that Committee to state the facts, which, as we have said, and now repeat, clearly show that Mr. STEEL did suppress the resolution, against the remonstrances of his colleagues, Messrs. PARKE and TAYLOR.

THE material prosperity of the Chicago Tribune is attested, not only by a large daily sheet well filled with the advertising favors of that community, but by a neatly executed lithograph which we have received, and which represents the new and magnificent structure which is hereafter to be its permanent home in that ever-changing city. The Tribune is a journal of wide influence in the North-west, earning that position by the ability and enterprise of its management in all of its departments.

WHEN the Chairman of the County Convention's Committee on Resolutions stated that six of the nine members of the joint-committee were in favor of reporting the twelfth resolution, he stated the precise fact. His colleagues, on his own sub-committee, did not attend the meeting of the joint-committee, but authorized him to represent them, and have cordially supported his action. It is hardly worth the while for any journalist to make an issue of veracity, on that point, with a citizen of Mr. LONG'S well known and unimpeachable character. His bare word will go quite as far as the affidavits of his traducers.

THE Philadelphia Benevolent Savings Bank, which was robbed of a million and more in greenbacks and bonds, has just been made glad, through a detective agency, by the return of most of the missing funds. No arrests are chronicled. This case is fresh evidence of the impetus given crime and protection afforded rogues by the detective system. The thieves were discovered, permitted to keep a portion of the moneys and escape prison, the detectives took another slice of the recaptured plunder as their share, and the bank, thankful to receive any of the funds, was satisfied and asked no questions. The detectives could not afford to have the heavy operators confined in prisons, as they reap too large dividends out of the jobs put up and consummated by them.

IT SEEMS that we were quite right in anticipating that the work on the Parkersburgh bridge would be pushed on, regardless of the late Ohio law forbidding its connection with the Ohio shore. The claim of West Virginia to the sovereignty of the river, below low-water mark on the Ohio side, is not to be disputed, and is now practically asserted in the prosecution of this work under her authority. Even the abutment on the Ohio side may be built also, if its foundations be laid just outside of low water mark. And the friends of an unobstructed navigation of the river are at present wholly without any legal protection against the invasion of their rights. Let us look this matter fairly in the face. Our only remedy is to be pursued at Washington, and the B. & O. corporation should be made to understand that this remedy will be pursued to the utmost—and with the determination to win and maintain our rights. To that end, there should be something done seasonably, and more effective than mere newspaper protestations.

SO MANY VERDICTS of acquittal have been returned in homicide cases where an outraged husband had taken the life of the destroyer of his domestic happiness, that we do not marvel to hear of women, who just now are busily engaged in resolving themselves into full equals of the opposite sex, asserting their rights in this direction and protecting their hearthstones from dishonor, using dull lead as a panacea for all their conjugal troubles. In Maine, last week, the jealous wife of a lawyer met and shot three bullets into the body of a frail milliner, who happened to sustain relations by no means honorable with the avenging woman's husband. The milliner will die, and Mrs. PARKER, the murderess, will set up the plea of justifiable homicide, and her lawyers will cite hundreds of precedents where men have escaped punishment although guilty of life-taking to protect their honor and to avenge themselves on the seducers of their wives. She will be acquitted; and, what then? Why, all the women in the land who are tinctured with jealousy will become their own avengers, and go about in search of the impediments to their domestic happiness. It is time that an example be made of some one of those who take upon themselves the responsibility of setting the laws of God and man aside, and destroy human life in order to satisfy outraged honor. Society is disorganized in this direction, and unless there is a return to abandoned law the consequences will be fearful. A jury, on their oaths, acquitting a man or woman who has shed blood in behalf of wounded honor, not only outrage the solemn obligations resting upon them, but make themselves accessories before the act in many of the similar crimes which follow. Hanging is an admirable antidote for most diseases, and just a little administered to the high-strung heroes and heroines who guard their honor by sacrificing life, would have good effect on the people, who are beginning to imagine that for some crimes there can be no sufficient redress obtained, and that the law justifies deeds of desperation. Let us have hanging.

SOLDIERS' MONUMENT.

The place for the soldiers' monument proposed by the Commissioners of the Allegheny Park, is in the centre of Ohio street, midway between Union and Cedar avenue. The space between these avenues is occupied by the Park, and the plan suggested is to devote a circular space for the monument in the midst of the Park on the line of its bisection by the street, and to deflect the street on the north and south sides, conforming the carriage-ways and sidewalks to the proposed deflection, so as to give at the same time an imposing and a graceful effect.

STICK A PIN THERE!

We invite the careful remembrance of the public for the following declarations in the Pittsburgh Commercial of June 5th, '69:

"For seven months, Mr. Carnahan might have been dismissed any day. He was not dismissed because the Attorney General, advised by Mr. Stanton, then in the Cabinet, opposed a removal. There was no other arrangement about it.

"The materials for Mr. Carnahan's political history are very abundant. * * * No man can show cleaner hands in office. * * * He would demand fair play. * * * He would probably 'bust up' little arrangements. * * * Let the public say whether a secret arrangement between President Johnson and the federal officer who had defied him was possible, much less probable."

Let these statements be recorded, as the authorized exposition of the case in behalf of A. J.'s District Attorney. We shall complete the record in due time, and out of very "abundant materials."

IMPROVEMENTS IN CITY AND COUNTRY.

It is noteworthy that among the numerous buildings, public and private, erected last year, and in progress the present, an unusual number are of the more costly and substantial character, and several of them very fine stone structures, calculated to elevate the character of the city for architectural taste. Any city might be proud of such buildings as those of Messrs. A. H. ENGLISH & Co., LLOYD and BLACK, and the Safe Deposite Bank, in Fourth street; the Peoples' Bank, and the M. & M. Insurance Co., in Wood street.

The Young Men's Mercantile Library Building is beginning to reveal its ultimate design and beauty, in Penn street. The City Hall gives promise of early development, in Smithfield street, and we are to have noble specimens of the strict ecclesiastical gothic style, in the new Trinity Church and Chapel on Sixth avenue. Indeed, we observe new erections in progress in nearly every part of both cities, and in the adjacent boroughs. Further out, also, in the rural districts, numerous mansions, more or less costly, and ornate, are lifting their outlines into view, in all directions over a landscape more picturesque, diversified and beautiful, perhaps, than any city in the country can boast. Such improvements as we refer to more particularly, denote the great wealth of the community not only, but a marked and praiseworthy advance in the liberality, culture and taste of our citizens.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION.

The authority of Federal Military Commissions, over such citizens of the unreconstructed States as are not in the naval or military service, is derived from the statute of March 2d, 1867, and has just been fully sustained in an opinion from the Attorney General. The opinion has a bearing of the most important breadth upon the social and political status of Virginia, Texas and Mississippi. The record of the XLIst Congress shows it to be equally applicable to Georgia, since there has been no recognition of any claim, by the latter State, to be exempted from the provisions of that act, through her adoption of a constitution in conformity with its requirements. As to the preceeding Congress, the Georgian claim, conceded by the House, was never perfected by the assent of the Senate. It is certain that the Administration will hereafter hold itself to be fully warranted in maintaining an orderly and peaceful condition of affairs in the three States not yet organized, and it is quite likely that the same Federal authority will, under this opinion, be extended to Georgia also. This would supply what has been needed,—a legitimate and effective curb to the turbulence of a still rebel population, which, hitherto, has asserted its own exemption from Federal interference, and its just contempt for its own contemptible Governor, BULLOCK, under the quasi protection of one branch and the inexplicable non-action of the other branch of the XLth Congress. We trust that the Administration will proceed at once to take the Georgia case in hand, and deal with it as the law warrants, and as the interests of the National pacification demand.

CUBAN AFFAIRS.

A suspicion of infidelity to the Spanish cause has driven DULCE, the Cuban Captain-General, into compulsory retirement from that post. He had so effectively forfeited the confidence of the loyalists of the island, in the sincerity of his policy for securing its pacific submission to the Spanish authority, that his resignation was demanded with a manifestation of popular feeling which he would have found it personally unsafe to resist. His successor is already at sea, destined for Havana.

The insurgents derive fresh hopes, for a cause which lately seemed desperate even to themselves, from the recent accessions of men and material afforded by their American sympathizers. The magnitude of these reinforcements, and the permanent benefits to result therefrom to the rebel cause, have, we think, been unduly represented, while the effective change of policy, sure to be inaugurated under the new Captain General, seems not to be appreciated as it should. DULCE is purely a civilian, and as such, an officer of great executive merit, but, neither by profession nor in fact, the best qualified to deal with the present situation in Cuba. His succesor, DE RODAS, on the other hand, is a soldier of much and honorable experience in arms, and withal above any taint of suspicion upon his fidelity to Spanish interests. He will know how to keep his own forces, regular and volunteer, completely in hand, and to make the best dispositions for a successful campaign in the revolted districts. If to this, he adds such an acquaintance with international law, as to preserve him from embarrassing complications with other powers, we shall regard the Spanish cause as likely to be soon triumphant.

The efforts of their sympathizing friends in this country, to commit our Administration to the blunder which any recognition of belligerent rights in the rebels would involve, have, fortunately, failed altogether. One policy prevails at Washington, in our national dealings with Spain and with England alike, and what is to be done by Mr. MOTLEY at London, is not to be undone in the same breath, at Havana or Madrid. This statesman-like caution is as wise as it is just.

MR. MOTLEY'S INSTRUCTIONS.

It is said that Senator SUMNER is far from pleased by the discovery, which he has made to his entire conviction, that the instructions to Minister MOTLEY are not based upon, or in accordance with the general tenor of his speech on the Alabama treaty. These instructions are very particular and specific; prepared with laborious care by Secretary FISH, they were adopted in the Cabinet meeting, without the amendment of a principle or a word, and confided to our Minister accordingly. The English Government is to understand that ours is responsible for no man's speeches, Senatorial or otherwise; that the Senate has an equal voice in all questions of ratification, and that, in maintaining our own dignity, we have the most punctilious regard for that of all other nations. A firm attitude is taken, while no suggestion supports the idea of an attempt to intimidate England. Negotiations will neither be precipitated, nor will they be delayed, if an opportunity shall favor their resumption. So much of the nature of these instructions has transpired—and no more. All State secrets are to be well kept this time, and all that the public are thus far permitted to know, is substantially stated above—and inferentially but even more clearly shadowed out in the unconcealed dissatisfaction of Senator SUMNER.

When it is thus evident that a question of the most critical delicacy is under the conduct of a wise and patriotic diplomacy, we hear, as was stated in our last, that the politicians are inclined to intervene, embarrassing the Administration by awakening a partizan clamor which must, if it accomplishes aught, either paralyze the action of the proper representatives of our national honor, or divert it in a direction which will go wide of the most desirable result—a pacific, honorable and mutually satisfactory solution of a controversy which nothing but pure reason and an enlightened perception of abstract justice can ever adjust on an enduring foundation. The politicians will do better to let the Alabama negotiation altogether alone, and confine their active interest to the by no means limited field of domestic policy.

TENNESSEE.

Contrary to recent expectations, the political canvass in Tennessee is to present a square issue upon the question of restrictions upon the suffrage. Colonel STOKES disappoints the general hope that he would concur, with his competitor for Republican support, in advocating the removal of these restrictions from the disfranchised rebel voter. His speech at Nashville, on Saturday evening, reveals his decision to maintain the field, in the same positions to which the domestic politics of Tennessee have heretofore committed him. We regret that the careful deliberations, in which Colonel STOKES and his friends have been engaged for the week past, have not resulted otherwise. We should have been better pleased, had he and they conceded, handsomely and fully, the just force, not only of the late decision of the Supreme Court of his State, but of advancing political enlightenment among Republicans everywhere, in accepting the broadest idea of universal suffrage. It is evident, however, that Colonel STOKES regards his past record on this question as decisively controlling all present considerations of policy, and we are compelled to admit that he adheres to it with a consistent fidelity which has our respect the more cordially, since we feel that he must agree with us in looking upon this decision as fatal to the success of his canvass.

His competitor, Acting Governor SENTOR, advances alone to the higher position, and declares himself to be in favor of the restoration of the franchise to every citizen of Tennessee. This will be the winning doctrine of the campaign, and it will win under Republican auspices, since Gov. SENTOR is and has ever been faithfully identified with this party. He will have a large Republican support, as well as the votes of the Conservatives, of whom it could hardly be expected that they should hold aloof from a cause which recognizes all their political rights. The number of this class of voters is likely to be still further augmented by an expected decision by the Supreme Court, limiting still more narrowly the application of the existing provisions for disfranchisement.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

"These schools are not now used to evangelize youth, but to demoralize and infidelize them. The principle underlying and running through the system is a studied ignoring of creed, that is, of revealed truth; Paganism, in other words, utter want of faith, but a fair show of external morality—this is the finis ultimus of the highly praised education to be made national. Pretty much of the same mind were the Pagans in the early days of the Church. A man would be at liberty to adore any one of the thousands of gods, to belong to any system of philosophy, to hold whatsoever opinions he pleased, provided he was not a Christian. This is the true rendering of the extraordinarily liberal views of the friends of Common School education. A united country to rest upon a foundation of irreligion, infidelity—and there are ministers of the Gospel ready to make that sacrifice!"

So writes the editor of the Pittsburgh Catholic, a journalist liberal in most matters, and by no means narrow-minded or contracted in his general ideas. It is singular and unfortunate that so many of our Catholic friends permit themselves to be misled, and view the Common School question from such a stand-point. No other institution of our free government is more perfect in its workings, more to be admired or more worthy of confidence and support than the system in vogue for free and universal education. Protestant, Catholic, Jew and Infidel can alike enter the class room and receive liberal learning and be made honorable members of society, without their beliefs or opinions being tampered or interfered with by those imparting knowledge. It is true, and we mention it in tones of thankfulness, that the principles underlying good citizenship are taught, that strict honesty is inculcated, that vice is held up to be detested and avoided, and that deep down in the hearts of scholars is planted the basis of all religions, a belief in God, in His truths revealed and a knowledge of the grave responsibilities of the individual to neighbors and society. It is not in the class-room, pondering over difficult problems of Euclid or provoking sentences of Greek or Latin, that the scholar derives his religious belief. It is not when geography puzzles or geometry baffles the powers of the brain that the pupil forms his ideas of the important doctrine of any one church, neither does he jump to a conclusion on hearing the Lord's prayer recited differently from his own version, or a psalm sung or a selection from a Protestant bible read. The religious education and example must be supplied at home. No where else can any distinct faith and belief obtain strong hold. A score of faiths or more may unprofitably be introduced to the school rooms The scholars will ignore the tyranny of study. By rote they may recite all the declarations of religion, all the tenets of faith, but give them liberty and they will declare their independence and think and believe as they have a mind to do. A familiarity with persons or things is sure to breed contempt. Let a youth be placed in a school where religion is habitually mixed with his thoughts, where important doctrines are daily forced upon him as a task to learn, and how soon will human nature revolt? He goes out into the world with his religious belief, occupying no higher ground than his knowledge of the abstruse sciences. He has been taught to believe so and so, but his ideas are met by those differing in opinion with himself, and, nine chances out of ten, he is so thoroughly disgusted with the cramming system to which he was a victim at school, that he gives away and deserts the very faith which carefully directed human efforts had endeavored to plant securely within his bosom. He is wrecked on the first rock of opposition. On the other hand, let the young be educated in religious matters at home. Let them feel that their fathers and mothers, who, in their estimation lead the world in wisdom and knowledge, attach themselves to a certain belief, and they will accept their doctrines as gospel and their minds will go with them in all things. Theirs will be no intellectual religion. It will be fresh and pure and of the heart. They will believe in what they have drawn in from their parents, and in sunshine or cloud their opinions will never give away.

The public schools as they exist are our crowning blessings. Let them stand as they have stood. Let no voice interfere with the system. We are needful of such members of society as they furnish, and knowing that they do not inculcate infidelity or immorality, but impart the wisest truths, and principles of honesty, fair dealing and integrity, we can safely afford to champion them and fight the battle in their behalf.

Washington Items.

The new Peruvian Minister who has just arrived here, is not able to confirm the statement that Peru has recognized the belligerency of the insurgents in Cuba.

An effort is being made to obtain the appointment of Charles M. Langston, (colored,) of Leavenworth, Kansas, brother of John M. Langston, as Minister to Liberia, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the declination of Mr. Clay, of Louisiana, nominated last winter. The President is favorably disposed to the arrangement.

General Sherman has received information from the Kansas frontier, that a large number of Indians have left their reservations, and have formed into predatory bands, and are roaming around the country doing mischief. He will at once establish additional posts in the vicinity of the railroad stations, where troops can be moved rapidly to and fro, and issue a proclamation outlawing all Indians found off their reservations, and treat them accordingly, whenever overtaken or captured. Considerable trouble is anticipated, unless the savages can be promptly checked and put down.

Slippery Rock, Butler county—Charles Prosser, vice W. T. Ramsey, removed.—Elen. Fayette county—J. F. Cambell, vice W. H. Brooks removed.—Sterreltania, Erie county—Thomas Sterrelt, vice E. Becht, resinged.—Linesville Station, Crawford county—R. P. Miller, vice S. Shattuck, resinged.—Crossingville, Crawford county—P. Clark, vice H. Stevens resigned.—Centre Road Station, Crawford county—W. McMullin, vice H. D. Lowing, resigned.—Wolf Creek, Mercer county—Wm. P. C. Emery, vice H. B. Williams, resigned.

There seems to be a great desire to prevent the public knowing the exact terms on which the Perry Fuller-Ewing lobby suit has been compromised. Several of the newspaper correspondents have been solicited to say nothing on the subject. The account of vouchers for Indian goods sold by Mr. Fuller to the First National Bank of Aarkansas was, as stated yesterday, about eighty-two thousand dollars. The amount demanded by General Thomas Ewing in the name, nominally, of his brother Charles and others, as so called partners, was fifty-one thousand dollars. The contract, of which the amount enjoined was part, amounted originally to nearly a half million dollars. Charles Ewing claimed partnership to the extent of one-third of the amount sold by Mr. Fuller to the bank aforesaid. Ewing and another party claimed nearly two-thirds. All the developments had in court showed that the claim was only a lobby one, in which, it is shrewdly guessed, the persons put forward were but lay figures, and Gen. Tom Ewing the party really interested. While Perry Fuller was absent the suit was pressed, when he arrived the Ewings were anxious for a compromise. They declared that fifty-one thousand dollars was due them, yet they took six thousand, thus giving seven-eights of their claim for Mr. Fuller's silence, which, it would appear, they have not secured.

Since the adjournment of Congress, the President has removed at least nine of his own appointees, namely, two consuls, one Indian agent, two collectors, one assessor and three postmasters.

Commissioner Delano says he will regard the failure to collect the whole tax due in any given district as prima facie evidence that the officers in charge thereof are either inefficient or dishonest, and in either case he will consider and treat it as sufficient ground for suspension.

Notwithstanding General Sickles accepted the Spanish mission, there are certain conditions connected with it which renders it doubtful whether he will enter upon his duties. Secretary Fish, yesterday, addressed him a letter, asking if he was ready to proceed to his post, as the President was anxious we should have a representative there immediately on the retirement of the present Minister, which takes place July 1st.

The announcement that J. Russell Jones had been appointed Minister to Belgium, in place of Sanford, created a good deal of dissatisfaction among the latter's friends. They say the President promised not to make any change until after the meeting of Congress. Every Senator in town, including Sumner, opposed Jones' appointments.

THE Pittsburgh Post of the 5th says:

"A private dispatch from Philadelphia informs us that the lease of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway to the Pennsylvania Central was agreed to at a meeting of the Directors held in that city yesterday, by a vote of eight to three, the President, General Cass, voting with the minority. It will now be submitted to a vote of the stockholders, in this city on the 24th inst., and if the lease is approved of by them, we are reliably informed that Mr. Cass will resign the Presidency, and withdraw entirely from the management of the road."

—John Murray, a respectable citizen of Portsmouth, Virginia, was shot dead on Saturday by A. ex. Perry, whom he suspected of seducing his daughter, and at whom he fired the first shot with slight effect. Perry was bailed for his appearance.

THE TRUSS.

The truss is an instrument, or rather an appliance, employed to retain the bowels to their proper place, when they have been forced out of their natural position, and this forms a disease called a rupture or hernia. Hernias reducable or or not. When not reducable, it becomes strangulated or incarcerated, a condition of always more or less danger, and requiring, in most cases, a surgical operation before the intestines can be restored to their proper position. When not strangulated primarily, ruptures are liable to become so by accident or neglect, hence, the necessity of trusses to keep the intestines in their proper place, and if possible to cure the disease by closing the opening through which the bowels protruded. In times past trusses have been regarded as palliative remedies rather than the means of effecting a radical cure. Dr. Keyser, however, of this city, who has devoted a great deal of thought and reflection to the subject of hernia, and besides has had over twenty-five years of practical experience in the application of trusses, is of the opinion that a large port on of cases can be radically cured. He attributes the failure to cure, in most cases, to the inefficiency of the trusses used, or the want of proper adjustment. He maintains that there are few conditions of the human body requiring greater skill and capacity than those in which there is a protrusion of any part, and much more so when the part is so intimately connected with human health and life as are the intestines. Trusses of every kind and at prices suitable to all may be had in great variety at DR. KEYSER'S GREAT MEDICINE STORE, 167 Liberty street, or at his private consulting rooms, No. 120 Penn street, from ten A. M. until four P. M. Every Monday, Wednesday and Saturday, at the store, for free consultation from four to six P. M., and eight to nine at night.

USEFUL INSTITUTION.—No more useful place can be found than the great medicine store of Dr. Keyser, at 167 Liberty street, where the Doctor gives three free days for consultation from 4 to 6 P. M. every Monday, Wednesday and Saturday. It is a matter of some moment to the afflicted that they should know this and avail themselves of an opportunity not often afforded.

CATARRH.—Dr. Keyser, at 120 Penn street, will undertake and cure the worst case of Catarrh, by an entirely new system, so as to completely eradicate it from the system. He does so by restoring the general health of the system. Let those interested inquire if this is true.

SCIENCE ADVANCES.

As soon as an article purporting to be of utility has been tested, and its merits endorsed by public opinion, unprincipled parties endeavor to replenish their depleted purses by counterfeiting, and substituting a spurious for the genuine article. Some time since, mercury, in the disguise of pills, powders, &c., was given for all diseases of the stomach and liver, while quinine was freely administered for the chills. At length HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS made its advent, and an entire new system of healing was inaugurated. The beneficial effects of this valuable preparation were at once acknowledged, and mineral poisons suffered to sink into that obscurity to which an enlightened age has consigned them. There have been many spurious Bitters palmed upon the community, which, after trial, have been found perfectly worthless, while HOSTETTER'S has proved a blessing to thousands, who owe to it their restoration to health and happiness.

For many years we have watched the steady progress of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS in public estimation, and its beneficient effects as a cure for all complaints arising from the stomach of a morbid nature, and we are free to say that it can be relied upon as a certain relief and remedy. Its proprietors have made the above preparation after years of careful study and sifting, and are now reaping the reward claimed by this valuable specific, and which they so richly merit. It is the only preparation of the kind that is reliable in all cases, and it therefore demands the attention of the afflicted.

(In the French Language.)

D. APPLETON & CO.,

Nos. 90, 92, and 94, Grand Street.

PUBLISH THIS DAY,

L'HOMME QUI RIT,

(THE MAN WHO LAUGHS.)

By VICTOR HUGO.

One vol. 8vo, paper covers.....$1.25

Complete in one vol. 8vo.

The Paris correspondent of the New York Tribune says that the literary event of the time is the publication of Hugo's new romance. It is a no able fact that this one man's one new volume does to-day occupy French attention like a world event; in the sadly overworked, rarely applicable, proper sense of the phrase, it does create a great sensation. Booksellers' puffing—though that has not been wanting—has little to do with the depth, extent and sincerity of the sensation. The national French feeling, that no man now lives, that since Shakespeare no man but Goethe has lived, capable of producing, in any form, the equivalent of "L'Homme Qui Rit," has anything to do with it.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

The upward tendency of gold developed early on Saturday, has likewise imparted a firmer feeling in the Government bond market and the advance was quite marked. Heavy purchases of bonds were made again for the purpose of shipment to Europe, since the rates of exchange have been put up by the foreign prime bankers. The investment demand, however, is very light, and any material decline shows more disposition to sell. Towards the close of the day, however, the market reacted again and gold likewise dropped back to 138⅜@138½, which shows that our remarks about the real condition of the market and its tendency were correct. There is scarcely any doubt but that gold will command much higher prices this season and shortly, but lower rates may ensue during the next few days, as soon as cheaper gold is sold out again by the operators for a short turn.

Stocks seem to be firmer in the general tendency, although some of the western roads look weak. There is evidently no strong element in the market at present to sustain high prices and the most cautious are more disposed to sell and realize, than prop the market.

Money is easy, but business is stagnant.

NEW YORK, June 5, 1869.

Money easier with a liberal supply at 7 per cent. on call, with exceptions at 6 per cent. The unfavorble bank statement had a depressing influence, however, on the Stock Exchange. The loss in deposits and legal tenders accounts for the activity in the morning and during the week, and reflects heavy receipts of currency by the Treasury from income tax and sales of gold in excess of bonds. There have also been some shipments of currency to the West. Loans, $275,919,609; increase, $984,148. Specie, $19,051,133; increase, $1,179,903. Circulation, $33,982,995; increase, $62,130; Deposits, $199,120,420; decrease, $3,931,558. Legal tenders, $53,289,429; decrease, $4,620,499. Sterling firm at 9¼@9¾. Gold opened at 138½, advanced to 138¾ and closed at 138⅜@138½. Carrying rates are 3@7. Clearances were $69,000,000. Exports to-day were $40,942, and for the week $527,242.

Governments firm with a fractional advance, but without much business. Coupons: '81, 117⅜@120; do. '64, 117⅛@117¼; do. '65, 118⅜@118¾; new do., 120@120¼; do. '67, 119⅞@120; do. '68, 119⅞@120; 10-40s, 109¼@109¾.

State bonds steady. Missouris, 90@90½; old Tennessees, 67⅜@68; new do., 64⅛@64¼; new North Carolinas, 56¾@56¾; Virginias, 61½@62.

The Stock Market was firm until the bank statement was known, when a decline of ¼@¾ per cent. on the entire list took place. There was an increased pressure to sell all but the weakest shares, New York Central, Michigan Southern and Rock Island. The lease of the Fort Wayne road to the Pennsylvania Central was officially signed. The market closed feverish and unsettled.

Business generally has been very dull during the week which has just closed, and it is not likely that there will be any material improvement within the next two months; not until harvest. The volume of business is usuall very light during June and July; country merchants have already laid in the bulk of their summer supplies, and farmers will be busily engaged in looking after their crops, and the absence of country buyers always makes business dull in the city. Charles Dickens on His Recent Sickness —A Fly-Leaf in a Leaf.

Once upon a time (no matter when,) I was engaged in a pursuit (no matter what,) which could be transacted by myself alone; in which I could have no help which imposed a constant strain on the attention, memory, observation, and physical powers; and which involved an almost fabulous amount of change of place and rapid railway traveling. I had followed this pursuit through an exceptionally trying winter in an always trying climate, and had resumed it in England after but a brief repose. Thus it came to be prolonged until, at length—and, as it seemed, all of a sudden—it so wore me out that I could not rely, with my usual cheerful confidence, upon myself to achieve the constantly recurring task, and began to feel, for the first time in my life, giddy, jarred, shaken, faint, uncertain of voice and sight and tread and touch, and dull of spirit. The medical advice I sought within a few hours, was given in two words: "Instant rest." Being accustomed to observe myself as curiously as if I were another man, and knowing the advice to meet my only need, I instantly halted in the pursuit of which I speak, and rested.

My intention was, to interpose, as it were, a fly-leaf in the book of my life, on which nothing should be written from without for a brief season of a few weeks. But some very singular experiences recorded themselves on this one fly-leaf, and I am going to relate them literally. I repeat the word: literally.

My first odd experience was of the remarkable coincidence between my case, in the general mind, and one Mr. Merdle's as I find it recorded in a work of fiction called Little Dorrit. To be sure, Mr. Merdle was a swindler, forger, and thief, and my calling had been of less harmful (and less remunerative) nature; but it was all one for that.

Here is Mr. Merdle's case:

"At first, he was dead of all the diseases that ever were known, and of several bran-new maladies invented with the speed of Light to meet the demand of the occasion. He had concealed a dropsy from infancy, he had inherited a large estate of water on the chest from his grandfather, he had had an operation performed upon him every morning of his life for eighteen years, he had been subject to the explosion of important veins in his body after the manner of fire works, he had had something the matter with his lungs, he had had something the matter with his heart, he had had something the matter with his brain. Five hundred people who sat down to breakfast entirely uninformed on the whole subject, believed before they had done breakfast, that they privately and personally knew Physician to have said to Mr. Merdle. 'You must expect to go out some day, like the snuff of a candle;' and that they knew Mr. Merdle to have said to Physician 'A man can die but once.' By about eleven o'clock in the forenoon, something the matter with the brain, became the favorite theory against the field; and by twelve the something had been distinctly ascertained to be 'Pressure.'

"Pressure was so entirely satisfactory to the public mind, and seemed to make every one so comfortable, that it might have lasted all day but for Bar's having taken the real state of the case into court at half-past nine. Pressure, however, so far from being overthrown by the discovery, became a greater favorite than ever. There was a general moralizing upon Pressure, in every street, all the people who had tried to make money and had not been able to do it, said, There you were! You no sooner began to devote yourself to the pursuit of wealth, than you got Pressure. The idle people improved the occasion in a similar manner. See, said they, what you brought yourself to by work, work, work! You persisted in working, you overdid it! Pressure came on, and you were done for! This consideration was very potent in many quarters, but nowhere more so than among the young clerks and partners who had never been in the slightest danger of overdoing it. These, one and all declared, quite piously, that they hoped they would never forget the warning as long as they lived, and that their conduct might be so regulated as to keep off Pressure, and preserve them a comfort to their friends, for many years."

Just my case—if I had only known it—when I was quietly basking in the sunshine in my Kentish meadow!

But while I so rested, thankfully recovering every hour, I had experiences more odd than this. I had experiences of spiritual conceit, for which, as giving me a new warning against that curse of mankind, I shall always feel grateful to the supposition that I was too far gone to protest against playing sick lion to any stray donkey with an itching hoof. All sorts of people seemed to become vicariously religious at my expense. I received the most uncompromising warning that I was a Heathen; on the conclusive authority of a field preacher, who, like the most of his ignorant and vain and daring class, could not construct a tolerable sentence in his native tongue or pen a fair letter. This inspired individual called me to order roundly, and knew in the freest and easiest way where I was going to, and what would become of me if I failed to fashion myself on his bright example, and was on terms of blasphemous confidence with the Heavenly Host. He was in the secrets of my heart, and in the lowest soundings of my soul—he!—and could read the depths of my nature better than his A B C, and could turn me inside out, like his own clammy glove. But what is far more extraordinary than this—for such dirty water as this could alone be drawn from such a shallow and muddy source—I found from the information of a beneficed clergyman, of whom I never heard and whom I never saw, that I had not, as I rather supposed I had, lived a life of some reading, contemplation, and inquiry; that I had not studied, as I rather supposed I had, to inculcate some Christian lessons in books; that I had never tried, as I rather supposed I had, to turn a child or two tenderly toward the knowledge and love of our Saviour; that I had never had, as I rather supposed I had had, departed friends, or stood beside open graves; but that I had lived a life of "uninterrupted prosperity," and that I needed this "check overmuch," and that the way to turn it to account was to read these sermons and these poems, enclosed, and written and issued by my correspondent! I beg it may be understood that I relate facts of my own uncommercial experience, and no vain imaginings. The documents in proof lie near my hand.

Another odd entry on the fly-leaf, of a more entertaining character, was the wonderful persistency with which kind sympathizers assumed that I had injuriously coupled with the so suddenly relinquished pursuit, those personal habits of mine most obviously incompatible with it, and most plainly impossible of being maintained, along with it. As, all that exercise, all that cold bathing, all that wind and weather, all that uphill training—all that everything else, say, which is usually carried about by express trains in a portmanteau and hat-box, and partaken of under a flaming row of gas-lights in the company of two thousand people. This assuming of a whole case against all facts and likelihood, struck me as particularly droll, and was an oddity of which I certainly had had no adequate experience in life until I turned that curious fly-leaf.

My old acquaintances the begging-letter writers came out on the fly-leaf, very piously indeed. They were glad, at such a serious crisis, to offer me another opportunity of sending that Post-Office order. I needn't make it a pound, as previously insisted on; ten shillings might ease my mind. And Heaven forbid that they should refuse, at such an insignificant figure, to take a weight off the memory of an erring fellow-creature! One gentleman, of an artistic turn (and copiously illustrating the books of the Mendicity Society), thought it might soothe my conscience in the tender respect of gifts misused, if I would immediately cash up in aid of his lowly talent for original design—as a specimen of which he enclosed me a work of art which I recognize as a tracing from a woodcut originally published in the late Mrs. Trollope's book on America forty or fifty years ago. The number of people who were prepared to live long years after me, untiring benefactors to their species, for fifty pounds a piece down, was astonishing. Also, of those who wanted bank notes for stiff penitential amounts, to give away—not to keep, on any account.

Divers wonderful medicines and machines insinuated recommendations for themselves into the fly-leaf that was to have been so blank. It was especially observable that every prescriber, whether in a moral or physical direction, knew me thoroughly—knew me from head to heel, in and out, through and through, upside down. I was a glass piece of general property, and everybody was on the most surprisingly intimate terms with me. A few public institutions had complimentary perceptions of corners in my mind, of which, after considerable self-examination, I have not discovered any indication. Neat little printed forms were addressed to those corners, beginning with these words: "I give and bequeath."

Will it seem exaggerative to state my belief that the most honest, the most modest, and the least vain-glorious of all the records upon the strange fly-leaf, was a letter from the self-deceived discoverer of the recondite secret "how to live four or five hundred years?" Doubtless it will seem so, yet the statement is not exaggerative by any means, but is made in my serious and sincere conviction. With this, and with a laugh at the rest that shall not be cynical, I turn the fly-leaf, and go on again.

The Rich Young Men of New York.

Donn Piatt, in one of his letters to the Cincinnati Commercial, describing the places of amusement in New York, says:

"One may see, night after night, at these places of amusement, young men well dressed, but carrying in their faces the marks of early dissipation. From among these come the loudest plaudits and the costliest bouquets and baskets of flowers which greet and encourage the poor girls, who are willing to make any exhibition of themselves that may put money in their pockets.

"The majority of the young men are made up of the sons of wealthy citizens, who propose to people penitentiaries and poor-houses with their offspring. Others again are confidential clerks and cashiers or young merchants, who cannot afford such extravagance, and are on the high road to ruin. We read of such cases frequently in the papers, but more frequently the miserable victim passes from sight unnoticed and almost unknown.

"At rare intervals we find a wealthy man leaving behind him sons so mean or so well trained that they keep, and perhaps increase, the wealth they inherit. But as a general rule, the wealth, if not lost before the parent dies, is scattered immediately after. The sons pass into absolute want, with no aptitude for any menial pursuit, and no disposition to do downright labor; they come up after a time as bar-keepers, billiard-markers, or pimps for worse places. And from these they graduate into States Prison or the grave."

A FEW weeks ago, there was a great commotion at the Bonaparte Lyceum, in Paris. It has upward of one thousand pupils, mostly the sons of the wealthiest citizens of Paris. A collection is taken up annually at the Lyceum, for the benefit of the so-called Prince Imperial charities. This year the pupils manifested their hostility to the young Prince and the whole dynasty by refusing to give a single sou for the purpose, but organized an independant subscription for the poor, and drew up a manifesto, stating their disgust at the attempts constantly made by the government to connect the name of Prince with every thing relating to the youths of France, calling upon their brethern in the other schools of Paris to collect money likewise for the poor, but not to allow the Prince Imperial's name to be used in connection with it. The government heard of the affair, and the rector of the Lyceum was ordered to reprimand the students severely. When he did so, he was hissed by the boys, who shouted, also, "Down with the Prince Imperial."

THE waiters' strike in New York was rather funny. At dinner-time the aproned attendants marshalled in good order, served the first course, and then marched out of the dining-rooms in body, to the very great astonishment of the diners and disgust of the landlords. Of course there was much confusion, and the dinner was finally served at each of the hotels by the aid of the chambermaids, porters and office clerks. At one or two of the hotels the proprietors donned the white aprons and asserted their authority, as well as contempt for "strikes," by themselves serving the guests.

IN Fayette county, Pa., is an apple tree which was planted in 1772, four years before the Revolution. It is said to be still in good condition. Forty bushels of apples is its average yield each season. "Woodman, spare that tree."

PURIFIES THE BLOOD.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

☞SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEAWEED TONIC AND MANDRAKE PILLS will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens into the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well. This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivaled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abcesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow, the lungs from thence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparation with the same remarkable success. Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his principal office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond street New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists. my19:151-d&F

Money to Loan.—We have $10,000 to loan on first class city property. Brown and Lambie, 114 Fifth avenue.

A new Fence similar to that enclosing the other portions of the Allegheny Park, is to be placed around the East Common section in place of the high palings which now surround it.

The new public school house in the Fifth ward, Allegheny, is expected to be ready for occupancy about October next. It is one of the finest school buildings in the State.

Mayor Drum had eleven drunken cases before him yesterday morning. A few of the parties managed to raise the amount of fine imposed, and the remainder were sent to jail.

Council Meetings.—The South Pittsburgh Councils will hold a meeting this evening.

Allegheny Councils meet next Thursday evening.

The Monumental Association will hold a meeting this afternoon at four o'clock, at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association, No. 53 Fifth avenue. The location for the monument will probably be decided upon, finally.

Troy Hill was lively yesterday. The saloons were open as though on a holiday, and beer flowed in abundance. We understand the police learned the names of those engaged in violating the law, and proceedings will accordingly be instituted against them this morning.

His Name.—The policeman referred to, in the personal columns of a Sunday paper, was officer Wolf, and we are informed that the Mayor is investigating the charges, which investigation will very probably result in the discharge of the officer.

Common Cases.—The Mayor disposed of twenty-six cases at his morning court yesterday. The majority of them were for drunkenness, the others being for disorderly conduct. Four out of the number were committed, and the others were either discharged or paid fines.

Business Difficulty.—Patrick Brannon and Robert Pringle had a dispute Saturday morning, in relation to the sale of a cow. From words they reached to blows, when Robert, it is alleged, knocked Patrick down and choked him severely. The accused was arrested, but after a hearing succeeded in compromising the case by paying the costs of the suit before Alderman Taylor.

Fire in East Birmingham.—Yesterday morning about half-past five o'clock a fire occurred in the stove ware rooms of Fisher & Co., on Railroad street, East Birmingham. The building was a frame structure, two stories high, and was totally destroyed. The loss will not exceed five thousand dollars, and is fully covered by insurance. It is presumed to have been the work of an incendiary.

Boy Drowned.—Jenkin Edwards, a boy about ten years of age, was drowned yesterday afternoon, in the Monongahela river, near Bakewell & Pier's glass works, Birmingham. He was in bathing, and it is presumed had an attack of cramp, as he sank some distance from shore, and was not seen again. A large number of persons assembled on the river bank, and parties were engaged in dragging the river all afternoon, but up to a late hour last evening had not succeeded in recovering the body.

Not So Bad.—A friend of the colored boy alluded to in Friday's GAZETTE as having developed remarkable "cleverness" in a swindling operation at the Railroad Station in Allegheny, says the boy is not so bad as represented. He says that the traveler left his leather and carpet sack on the floor of the station, and left them there. The boy thought they had been forgotten, and removed them to a place of safety. When he returned the owner paid him fifty cents for his thoughtfulness. Such are the statements of the boy,s friend.

Throwing Stones.—Yesterday evening, about four o'clock, John McClure, a young hopeful, about sixteen years of age, was amusing himself in the innocent pastime of throwing stones through the windows of the Methodist Episcopal Church, at the corner of Smithfield street and Seventh avenue. An officer finding him thus engaged, interrupted his sport by taking him in charge and conducting him to the lock-up, where he was confined for the night. He was considerably under the influence of liquor when arrested, but refused to tell where he procured the article. He will have a hearing this morning.

Daily Train.

The semi-weekly accommodation train on the Erie and Pittsburgh road which heretofore ran only on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, has been made a daily train, and passengers can now reach Erie at 10:55 A. M., of each day, giving ample time to transact business and return on the five o'clock train. The arrangement has been long needed, and will prove a great accommodation to persons along the line of the road in the vicinity of Erie.

Another Insane Man.

Officer Peter Dressler, on Saturday, brought from Oakland William Pool, who, it appears, has been suffering from an aberration of mind for some weeks post. The unfortunate man was placed in the lock-up until the necessary arrangements for sending him to Dixmont could be made. The malady, it is thought, is not permanent, and his friends believe a few months', or perhaps a few weeks' proper treatment will effect a cure. Mr. Pool was formerly employed on the Oakland Passenger Railway as extra conductor.

Snakes in His Hat.

Yesterday morning at an early hour officer Dressler was awakened and requested to take charge of Louis Devil, who, it appears, was acting in a rather strange manner on Smithfield street. The officer went out and found the man but could discover nothing unusual or strange about his action, and allowed him to depart. A few moments later he heard an unusual noise in the vicinity of the Custom House, and on repairing there to ascertain the cause, found Devil hammering at the door, demanding admittance. When questioned as to what he wanted he said that court was in session up stairs, and he had been summoned as a witness and he must go in. The officer took him in charge and conducted him to the lock-up, where he was confined in a cell. His action there indicated a severe attack of mania potu, as he insisted that his hat was full of snakes, and imagined that the cell was also filled with them.

MONDAY, June 7.—The United States District Court will resume its sessions this morning. The cases in which the United States is a party will be taken up first.

Quarter Sessions—Full Bench.

SATURDAY, June 7.—District Attorney Pearson called up for disposition the undisposed of business of the last term of the Criminal Court, and upon all indictments in which the defendants failed to appear, the bonds were forfeited and attachments ordered to be issued, unless the bail procured the body of the party for whom they went security within ten days.

The June term of this court commences to-day, and it is requested by General Pearson and Assistant District Attorney Flack, that prosecutors and defendants be promptly on hand or they will be compelled to enforce their appearance by issuing attachments. It is the intention of the Judges to do everything in their power to facilitate the business of this court.

Professionals About.

We still have a few professional thieves in our community who occasionally outwit the vigilance of our detectives and line their pockets with ill-gotten gains. Three of them engaged in a bold and successful undertaking on Saturday, in Allegheny, by which they secured about one hundred and fifty dollars. About three o'clock in the afternoon the trio, all young men, entered the hat store of Messrs. Pratt and Benney, on Federal street, near Water, Allegheny. Mr. Pratt was in the establishment alone at the time, and while one of them engaged his attention, pretending to select a hat, the other two stepped toward the rear, and coolly appropriated a pocketbook containing the amount stated from the drawer. They then withdrew without making a purchase. The pocketbook had been laid in the drawer but a few minutes before they came in and Mr. Pratt, after their departure, went to get it again, when the loss was discovered. He immediately started in pursuit of the party, but failed to get any trace of them. There were several friends standing around the door as the thieves passed out, but as the occurrence was not known then they were allowed to pass on. It is quite likely the money will never be recovered, as, if the parties were arrested, Mr. Pratt is not certain he could identify them.

Runaway.

Saturday evening about seven o'clock, a runaway occurred on Seventh avenue, by which a man whose name we could not ascertain, was slightly injured. A horse and buggy was standing on Grant street, a short distance from Seventh avenue, and when the gentleman having it in charge attempted to get in, the horse took fright and started at a rapid rate of speed down Seventh avenue, the hind wheel of the buggy passing over the driver and injuring him slightly. On Seventh avenue, in front of Hammer & Co.'s furniture warerooms, the buggy collided with a light furniture wagon, damaging the latter considerably and breaking the buggy slightly. When near the corner of Smithfield street the horse was arrested in his wild carreer and further damage prevented.

A Neat Office.

The Central Office of the Allegheny Fire Alarm Department has recently undergone a thorough renovation and refitting, which has made it one of the neatest and most pleasant offices in the city. The telegraph line is now in perfect working order, and has at last been made reliable. It is tested every morning by Superintendent McCandless, and thus anything out of repair is quickly discovered and righted. Everything about the place is kept bright and shining, and is alike creditable to the taste and energy of the officials having it in charge.

AQUATIC.

Coulter Challenges Hamill to a Five Mile Race Over the Lower Monongahela Course.

There has been a lack of interest in aquatic sports in this city during the present season, but the indications at present are that it only requires something to start the sport to make the season an unusually interesting one. Harry Coulter, the Manchester oarsman, is anxious to have another "pull" with Jimmy Hamill, as will appear from the following challenge:

I do hereby challenge James Hamill to row me a five mile race, on the Lower Monongahela course, for five hundred dollars a side. My race with Mr. Hamill at Philadelphia, last summer, not having proved satisfactory to me or my friends, I desire to row him again, and as he had the choice of waters then, I think that this time I have the right to choose, and therefore name the Lower Monongahela course, as stated above.

I hope that Mr. Hamill will accomodate me in this matter, and that we may have a race rowed to a satisfactory conclusion. If Mr. Hamill will name through any of the city papers where I can meet him in order to make a deposit to insure the match, I will be happy to meet him. HENRY COULTER.

What the "Little Engine's" reply will be is not definitely known. His friends say that he is anxious to have another "tug" with Walter Brown for the championship, which the latter so unexpectedly wrested from him last season, and that he will not make a match with anyone until that is disposed of. He feels confident of his ability to beat Walter, and is anxious to test the matter. A race between Hamill and Coulter would create considerable interest among the friends of both parties as they have never had a fair "pull" together.

Fire in Allegheny.

Saturday evening, about ten o'clock, a fire broke out in a small shed attached to a two story frame dwelling house on Robinson, near Grantham street, Fourth ward, Allegheny. The house was owned by Mr. Louis Fleming, who occupied it with his family. The inmates had all retired a short time before the breaking out of the flames, and were first notified of the condition of things by the cry of fire.

An alarm was sounded which brought the fire department out in force in a very few minutes. The little shed in the rear of the building, in which the fire originated, was quickly consumed, when the blaze ran up the side of the house, and burned with great fierceness. At one time fears were entertained of the safety of the structure, and those in the immediate vicinity, but by the prompt action of the firemen the flames were kept under control and subdued in a short time. The whole interior was completely soaked with water, which will occasion the greatest loss sustained. Mr. Fleming had an insurance of one thousand dollars in a home company which will fully cover the loss. In anticipation of the destruction of the building, nearly all the goods contained therein were removed without much damage. The roof of an adjoining tenement at one time caught but was extinguished immediately. No cause can be assigned for the fire, as the shed in which it originated was used only as a lumber room, was seldom entered, and contained nothing of a particularly combustible nature.

A Sharper Foiled.

Saturday evening, between six and seven o'clock, an attempt was made by two young sharpers, evidently professionals, to rob the cash drawer in the clothing store of E. Houston & Co., Fifth avenue. At the time mentioned they entered the store and finding Mr. E. Houston, the senior partner, alone, stated that they wished to purchase a linen duster. Mr. H. showed them his stock of dusters, and succeeded in suiting them, but they concluded not to take it with them at that time. One of them said that he would like to write a note, and requested Mr. H. to furnish him with pen and ink and a sheet of paper, which he did, placing them on the counter at the back end of the store room. The fellow sat down and commenced to write, and his companion, in order to draw Mr. H's. attention from the writer, desired to look at some shirts. A package was shown him but they did not suit. He saw one in the window, however, which he thought was just what he wanted. Mr. Houston went to get the shirt, and in doing so, happened to look toward the back part of the store, when he observed the fellow he had provided with pen and ink behind the counter in the vicinity of the cash drawer. He immediately went back and caught him by the neck, and after ascertaining that his money was still safe, led him out. The sharper insisted that he was innocent of any attempt to rob the cash drawer, stating that he had accidentally knocked something off the counter and had gone back to pick it up. They purchased the shirt and left, promising to come back and establish their innocence, but they did not come.

The Clearfield Bank Robbery.

Jeddie E. Lemoin, one of the men implicated in the Clarfield Bank robbery on the 12th of May last, was arrested in St. Louis Friday morning last and turned over to Daniel E. Moore, Cashier of the bank, and officer Tracy, of St. Louis, on a requisition from Governor Geary. It appears that Lemoin and a notorious safe robber, known as Jack Nelson alias California Jack, were arrested a few days after the robbery was committed, but the former managed to escape. Some two years ago Lemoin was charged with robbing the safe of the Treasurer of Franklin county, Mo., but was acquitted. He is a man about thirty-five years of age and has a wife and children residing in St. Louis, where, for some time past, he has been engaged in the liquor business, under the firm name of Lemoin & Co., but closed out some six weeks since. He will be taken to Clearfield for trial.

Connubial Wrangle.

For twenty years, James Sharp and his loving spouse Hattie, have sojourned in this world together. For twenty more they might have pursued the even tenor of their way, but for the untimely appearance of a young syren, to whose charms, Hattie states, her liege has fallen a victim. The infatuation, Hattie avers, is so complete and enthralling that the former exemplary husband has deserted his own peaceful fireside and happy family to follow the lead of his fair enchantress. Distressed at his conduct, Hattie alleges, she endeavored to woo him back to the paths of rectitude, but was cruelly spurned, with dire threats so terrible that she feared her life. In this state she consulted Alderman McMasters, on Saturday, and, as a last resort, prevailed upon that official to issue warrants for the arrest of the erring one for desertion and surety of the peace. If this remedy fails she will give up the ship.

Letter from Fayette County.

UNIONTOWN, June 5, 1869.

MESSRS. EDITORS: For the past ten days I have been sojourning in this pretty town. As your readers are probably aware, Uniontown lies but a few miles from the foot of the "Blue Ridge" mountains, which makes the situation delightful. The famous "Fayette Springs" are about nine miles from here, and therefore quite convenient to the town. At present there is no life at the "Springs"—being rather early in the season. The most enjoyable retreat hereabouts is Snyder's, on the summit, a distance of six miles from Uniontown. The scenery in this vicinity from the most available points is very grand and interesting.

The new school building will be opened on Monday next. It is one of the most prominent buildings in town. The rooms, ten in number, are fitted up in modern style. A large hall for exhibition purposes is on the third floor. The entire work has been discharged in an excellent manner, and reflects credit on those who were engaged upon it, as well the architect, S. W. Kerr, Esq., of your city. The school is under the superintendency of Prof. H. O. Gibbons.

Skiles' Hall, which was completed this year, is a great convenience, as has been attested on many occasions.

A cattle depot is being erected by the Pittsburg and Connellsville Railroad Company, convenient to town. It will be quite a large affair when finished.

A new Methodist Church is soon to be built. The Baptists have their new Church almost ready for service.

Contracts have been given out for laying gas mains throughout the town, and a grand jubilee will be held on the introduction here of the new burning material, which it is expected will take place on the Fourth of next July. Many merchants have prepared their gas pipes for the use of this light upon its being introduced.

The Uniontown Brass Band, under the leadership of Prof. Geo. Rutter, is an excellent one, and the citizens of the town must feel proud of it.

The Orphans' School, under the management of Rev. A. L. Waters, is in a prosperous condition. The entire school visited Pittsburgh on "Decoration Day." The roll numbers two hundred children.

Two hand engines, which are supplied with water from the "race" which runs through the town, comprize the fire department of Uniontown. Instead of hose carriages, bucket carriages are used. The tank of the engine is filled, and then pumped in the old style of hand engines. I think the town might support a steam engine.

Harry Hotto and Troupe closed a successful two week's business at Skiles' Hall on the 29th. Everett, the Illusionist, opened at the same hall on the 31st, and has been doing an immense business. He will likely remain a few nights next week.

Messrs. Pittock and Ross, who rode on their bycicles from Brownsville here, on the 25th, a distance of twelve miles in three hours, have had their school in operation at the Town Hall, and closed last evening.

The Democratic Primary Election for Assemblymen, Treasurer, Register and Recorder, Prothonotary and Commissioner takes place at the Court House today. The contest for nomination promises to be lively. G.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—The past week at the Opera House has been replete with fun and amusement. Maffitt and Bartholomew's comic pantomime troupe have been holding forth to large and delighted audiences, and not for years has an engagement of that character rendered such universal satisfaction to the patrons of the establishment. Mr. Maffitt is in truth a great artist, and stands without a rival in his profession. To-night Maffitt will appear in "Simon's Mishaps or The Milliners," and the laughable trick pantomime of "Old Mother Widdle Waddle."

PITTSBURGH THEATRE.—The amusement loving public have had a rare feast of fun at the Old Drury during the past season, and the attractions are still great as ever. To-night "The Lonely Man of the Ocean" will be presented, in addition to which a splendid variety bill will be offered.

THE GREAT SHOW.—James Robinson's circus, combined with Gardner & Kenyon's Mammonth Menagerie, will exhibit on the Third ward, Diamond Square, Allegheny, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the 17th, 18th and 19th instant. James Robinson is the acknowledged champion barebacked rider of the world, and his son Clarence, only nine years of age, who promises to rival his father in feats of horsemanship, will appear at every exhibition. There will be an afternoon and evening performance each day. The Menagerie claims to have the largest and most rare collection of animals in this or any other country.

A Legal Question.

William Denny is an old attendant of the Allegheny lock-up. He was arrested on Monday of last week and fined five dollars for drunkenness. Wednesday morning found him again in his old quarters. Ten dollars fine was imposed for this second offence. Saturday morning, for the third time during the week, he appeared before His Honor, looking as though he had just passed through a protracted dissipation. This time William was on the offensive, and interposed a legal objection to the imposition of any fine, on the ground that no man could justly be fined three times for "the same drunk," which he continued was his position "eggsactly." This technicality in the law, though seemingly just, was overruled by the Mayor, however, and William was compelled to contribute ten dollars towards replenishing the city treasury, which he was exceedingly loth to do, and did only under protest.

How it was Settled.

Jimmy Coggins and Thomas Golden, coal miners, who just arrived in the city, from Mansfield, yesterday, in search of employment, found their way to the Point, where, it appears, they succeeded in procuring a sufficient quantity of whisky to intoxicate them, differed as to whom they should go to apply for work. They quarrelled some time over the matter, but could come to no conclusion, and finally decided to settle the matter by a fight, and repairing to the vicinity of the Duquesne Depot, stripped off and went at it. After pounding each other for some time they were interrupted by an officer, who, not knowing the cause of the difficulty, took them both in custody and conducted them to the lock-up, where they were provided with quarters for the night.

A Problem Solved.—Among all the labor-saving machines for housework, the Dexter Washing Machine has carried off the prize; it is the perfection of all former production, cheap, durable and not liable to get out of order. Sold at 124 Wood street. W. W. Bradshaw.

Paid Fire Department in Allegheny.

Allegheny is to have a paid fire department. At the last meeting of the Committee on Fire Engines and Hose of the Councils the matter was brought up and discussed at considerable length, resulting in a unanimous decision to report favorable to the project, and asks for instructions at the next meeting of Councils. There is little doubt, when it comes before that body, judging from the feeling among members, the Committee will be authorized to proceed with the necessary arrangements for making the change immediately.

The Department, as at present organized, is a combination of the Paid and Volunteer systems. Each Company is allowed a driver and a sufficient number of men, generally but three or four, to man the carriage. All the others are merely volunteers and are outside the control of the authorities. This plan has been found to work pretty well, but there are a number of defects with it which could be remedied by a paid system altogether.

The additional expense incurred by change, it is thought, would not be more than $11,000, which would be more than repaid in the incurred efficiency of the department. If the change is to be made at all, the sooner it is accomplished the better, as every year but increases the difficulty, and expense necessary to be incurred. The Committee have not settled upon any plan as yet, but await the action of Councils.

Lawns and White Goods.

Prominent among the goods now received by Messrs. Bates & Bell, the enterprising merchants, 21 Fifth avenue, are white goods of which the firm have selected a large and very handsome assortment. It embraces all the latest and finest patterns, while the prices are low and moderate. In the line of lawns, organdies, and goods of that character, Messrs. Bates & Bell make a display that has not been surpassed, if at all equalled, in Pittsburgh, this season. Their assortment in this branch of their store is quite fresh and comprises the choicest and lates fabrics manufactured. All colors and combinations of colors, and all designs are represented. This is the season when these goods are in most demand. They are admirably suited for summer, and, while not costly, present a really pretty appearance. Messrs. Bates & Bell are prepared to deal with their customers on the most liberal terms and offer all the inducements that liberality, judgment and enterprise can offer. Country Dealers should also send in their orders. They will meet with prompt attention.

Protected Themselves.

Two females, Mary McCreery and Annie, Eisner while enjoying the festive hospitalities offered at a saloon on Troy Hill, yesterday, were approached by an ungallant youth who addressed them in a manner so familiar, that at once their ire was aroused, and he received in reply a couple of beer tumblers thrown with considerable force at his head. He was sufficiently active, however, to dodge the missiles which went crashing through the window. Symptoms of a first-class row were becoming manifest when a couple of policemen, on duty on the Hill, happened along and arrested the trio, man and women. They were lodged in the lock-up until this morning.

The White Pine Region.

A private letter from White Pine, Nevada, under date of May 22, states that there was a great deal of sickness among the miners and others in that region. The smallpox prevails there to a considerable extent, a large per centage of the cases resulting fatally. Pneumonia is, however, the most common complaint, and the writer advises persons with unsound lungs to give the silver mountains of Nevada a wide berth. The mountains were covered with a fresh mantle of snow, and an incessant gale of wind was sweeping over them. Old miners, who have traveled over the country from British Columbia to Arizona, unhesitatingly pronounce White Pine the roughest country they ever struck. The letter represents that what White Pine most needs is capital and mills. The country is rich in minerals, but money is requisite to develop its wealth. Many owners of valuable claims are compelled to allow them to remain unimproved on this account, and it is almost impossible to induce capitalists to pay therefor the value of the precious metal actually in sight.

WE have some sympathy for an honest rebel, mourning his beloved dead. But there are men so diabolically mean, that not to execrate them, would be a deadly sin. Such a one lives in Wayne, Michigan. In company with many others, he violently opposed the decoration proceedings, but was willing to give twenty-five dollars toward garlanding a rebel's grave, and said he "would like to erect a monument to J. Wilkes Booth, as large as the depot wood piles, composed of the skulls of Union soldiers." The wretch would be ridden out of any decent rebel village. He is a copperhead Democrat.

Railway News.

The Bear Creek and Shenango Valley Railroad will be in operation this summer. The iron for the track is now all on the ground, and a considerable amount of the rolling stock is ready for use. Of this stock, the Erie Car Works supply fifty coal cars.

Negotiations for the right of way to Oil City, by the Jamestown and Franklin Railroad Company are progressing satisfactorily, and an early completion of this much needed extension is confidently expected.

Work has been commenced in earnest on the railroad bridge across the Ohio river at Parkersburg. The Gazette, of that city, says:

Most of the hands, about fifty in number, are employed on the piers, in the river. The summer will probably carry all of them above high water. We perceive that the Ohio Legislature passed an act forbidding the building of bridges across the river of a less span than 400 feet. We cannot exactly see where that law will be effective, as West Virginia owns the river to low water mark from near Pittsburgh to the Kentucky line, over 300 miles.

The bill to appropriate one million dollars to complete the Western Maryland Railroad to Williamsport, which some days ago passed the First Branch of the Baltimore Councils, passed the the Second Branch of the City Council by eight yeas to two nays, with some trifling amendments which will be unanimously acceeded to in the First Branch of the Council. The approval of Mayor Banks is certain. There is considerable rejoicing over the prospective passage of the measure, which insures the completion of the road in at least six months.

The valley of the Shenango is alive with the ever busy hand of the coal miner and thrifty farmer, and every hamlet presents to your view its huge smoke stacks with their lurid glare of firery furnaces beneath.

The construction of the Erie and Pittsburgh Railroad, traversing as it does, the valley from one end to the other, and having connections with all the coal mines, has had a great deal to do in bringing into existence the many new manufacturing establishments, and enlarging the capacity of the older ones. It supplies the furnaces with Lake Superior ore, which is shipped from its docks at Erie, and again carries the manufactured products and the surplus of coal mined to an ever ready market, thus doing a large and profitable business.

The road bed for a new one, is in a much better condition than expected, and improvements are being daily made, and if we judge aright the spirit of the Board of Directors, it will be in a short time equal to the best of roads. The rolling stock is of superior quality, and sufficiently ample for the large and constantly increasing business.

THE Iowa Northwest, in describing a visit to the State Agricultural College, says: "The labor system, which has failed at so many similar institutions, has been inaugurated here with complete success. The students perform their two hours' work each day with a degree of cheerfulness and zeal that is extremely gratifying to the entire faculty, all of whom are firm believers in the system. The recitations occupy the forenoon of each day, the afternoon being devoted to labor, recitation and study. The labor is performed by dividing the students into squads, each under the direction of a captain, who receives the tools from the tool-house, directs the labor of his company, keeps a record of the time, quality of the work, and reports to the President in writing."

FRED. S. JAMISON, of Columbus, O., had been courting a young lady who resided ten miles east of the city, and they were engaged to be married. On Sunday he visited her and found she was nigh unto death with consumption. He returned, and undertook to drown his sorrow in strong drink. On Monday he visited her again and found her dying. On his return home that night he procured a quantity of laudanum and swallowed it, and then told his mother that the young lady was dying and that he was not going to survive her. He died the next morning, and word was brought to the city the same day, that she, too, was dead.
